Press Release

June 13th Meeting Features Presentation by Psychologist Dr. Susan H. May On Ways to Improve Operations and Emotional Intelligence

Dr. Susan Hughes May is a renowned clinical psychologist and is the founder and director of Journey's Way Consulting services located at 3020 Highway 138, Riverdale, Georgia.

Fayetteville, June 9, 2009: Recognizing the need for improved relations internally and externally, the Fayette County NAACP Branch membership and visitors will hear a presentation from Dr. Susan H. May on ways to improve relations so the Branch can operate efficiently and serve the community better. Dr. May has significant experience in working with individuals, businesses and organizations in various capacities and locations throughout the country. Dr. May is expected to show how organizations can identify causes of conflict and reveal how to resolve outstanding issues in a way that allows people to work together in harmony. This is just the beginning of a massive effort to take the Fayette County NAACP Branch to a higher level of activism that will allow us to keenly focus on ways to advance the cause of civil rights and equality in our community.

The NAACP was established in 1909 by a bi-racial group of citizens who were appalled at the afflictions suffered by citizens of color. The NAACP celebrated its centennial anniversary on February 12, 2009 with the theme, "WE ARE ONE HUNDRED." The NAACP is the nation's oldest and largest civil rights organization. Its half-million adult and youth members throughout the United States and the world are the premier advocates for civil rights in their communities and monitor equal opportunity in the public and private sectors. The Fayette County NAACP Branch meets at the Flat Rock AME Church which is located at between Fayetteville and Peachtree City just off Highway 54 at 148 Old Chapel Lane. All current members are asked to please attend the very important general membership meetings on June 13, 2009 at 4:00 pm, visitors are welcome.
